ACCESSIBILITY
BAFTA is an arts charity that is open and welcoming to everyone. This means we want every visit to BAFTA 195 Piccadilly to be as enjoyable and comfortable as possible.

Our newly developed building has been designed with accessibility in mind, and we ensure all staff have the latest training and resources to ensure that the needs of our visitors can be accommodated wherever possible.

For us, access is about more than the design and functionality of our spaces. We want to ensure that we programme activity and develop relationships with our clients, including considering those with invisible disabilities and who are neurodiverse.

We also believe in providing accessibility information that is readily available to all visitors, and aim to adopt a proactive rather than reactive approach to meeting visitors’ requirements.

Accessibility information will be updated regularly on our website - we ask that all clients to share this information among attendees to their events and to think about how they can ensure their events are inclusive and accessible to all.

If you have any thoughts or specific considerations then please don’t hesitate to reach out and discuss your needs with us.

Made in-house in one of our three kitchens, our dedicated kitchen brigade pride themselves on their passion and attention to detail.

Matched with delicious Champagnes, wines and with cocktails created by our front of house manager Graham Lloyd-Bennett, we work hard to ensure your guests receive the event you envisage.

With capabilities to meet dietary requirements and also deliver food and drinks to those guests who may not be able to physically attend your event, we offer a one-stop service for all your needs.

We are keen to work with you to deliver your exact requirements, and can tailor our menus or indeed create specific dining experiences to make certain your event will be memorable in many wonderful ways.
Taking a building designed for needs of the 1880s and making it suitable for the requirements of 2020s has been no easy task.

We are proud to say that creating a sustainable environment was at the core of the redevelopment of BAFTA 195 Piccadilly and our designers worked tirelessly to ensure the building is as sustainable as possible.

This includes:

- A building management system that utilises the light and heat from the rooflight structures to heat and cool the building
- High efficiency heat pumps to deliver to only those areas in use
- Greater levels of insulation
- Reductions in carbon emissions
- All systems exceeding the building regulations energy efficient benchmarks

Alongside the work done on making BAFTA 195 Piccadilly as sustainable as possible, we are proud to say that BAFTA is the home of albert, the authority on environmental sustainability for film and television, which leads a creative industry wide charge against climate change.
