

Red carpet interview with Antonia O'Brian

CAROLINE FLACK: It is about time to have our fashion round up here on the red carpet. Antonia, who has stolen the show so far?

ANTONIA O'BRIAN: I really want to talk about the leading men. We have had Hugh Jackman and Eddie Redmayne just walking past here, screaming girls, screaming fans up and down the red carpet. Eddie Redmayne was in Burberry. He is the Burberry man. Then, of course, we've got Ben Affleck, Mr Argo, who's a big deal this red carpet season, and he was in Gucci.

Q. Let us talk about the beards.

A. -- tuxedos. He looked -- really slick tailoring, I like a man in a good suit, so they are ticking my boxes.

Q. I like a man with a good beard.

A. If you do, there's a lot of them on the red carpet. Ben Affleck, got a good beard. Hugh Jackman. I feel like facial hair is a key trend this season. Obviously we can't do that but the boys are working it.

Q. One name, who wins it for you tonight?

A. I'm going to go Jennifer Garner. She just walked by in monochrome and looked absolutely sensational. Followed by Thandie Newton in that lace, was exquisite.
